A few facts have leaked out about the verdict of the field court-martial on Monday. Lieut, C. C. Ames, of the Seventh illinois, who was tried for being absent without leave, and with conduct unbecoming an officer, will escape with a slight reprimand. In view of the fact that he went home and got married without leave, and because of letters from Gens, Corbin, Carr and Miles, this action was decided upon.

The first case of attempted suicide in camp occurred yesterday. Private Arthur Elston, of Cempany K, Seventh II-

thur Elston, of Cempany K, Seventh li-linols, who had become despondent because of his disgrace, attempted to cut his throat with a table knife.

Elston went to Washington last week wiith $50 of the company's money to make some purchases for the boys and went on a drunk. He spent all the money and was arrested by the city authorities and turned over to his regiment. He has been in the guardhouse for a few days awaiting trial for desertion, and has at-tempted to escape several times.

His injuries may prove fatal. He is un-der guard at the Second Division hospi-tal.

Corporal J. T. Collins and Privates Sut-pin, Pinter and Prendergast, of Company L. Sixth Pennsylvania, are in the guardouse at headquarters charged with havring acted improperly before ladies on the Falls Church road. General Graham is much incensed over this and says these cases are becoming too frequent. He will make an example of the offenders. A fight caused some excitement in the Fourth Missouri camp yesterday after-noon. A private who had been imbibling kicked a comrade on the head, inflicting a scalp wound. The injury was dressed and the offender may be reprimanded without being court-martialed.

Private Dunlayey, of Company C, Sixth Massachusetts, has applied for a dis-charge on the ground that his wife is en-tirely without means of support. The strange part of the story is that Dunlavey was refused by the recruiting officer because he was married, and only got into the company by presenting letter from his wife, begging that he letter from his wire, begging hat he be accepted, as she was well provided for. The mayor of Lowell, Mass., promised to see that she was cared for, and in addition to this the regiment has a relief fund from which Mrs. Dunlavey may be supplied, if she required aid.

Cannot Re-enforce the Spanish Army at Santiago.

port Linares, After an Earnest Attempt to Comply With Blanco's Orders, Turn Back—His Troops Unequal to the Difficult Task.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 29.-Advice from Juragua state that information has een received at Army headquarters at that point to the effect that the re-enforcements Gen. Linares, commanding at Santiago, expected to receive from Pando's forces in Eastern Cuba, have not been able to reach Santiago.

Five battalions, aggregating 10,000 me: under Pando, were ordered by Captain General Blanco to proceed with all possi ble haste from Manzanillo toward Santiago, and the Spaniards based their only hope of repelling the invasion on the prompt arrival of Pando's forces about

Gen. Garcia, the moment he heard Gen. Pando's advance, grasped the im portance of the movement, and bent all his energies to intercept the Spanish troops. He sent out his most trusted scouts, and gave explicit instructions that they should report to him at the earliest noment.

These scouts made hazardous journeys to the west and north of Santiago. They scoured every route over which Gen. Pando might advance, but they were able to get no trace of the Spanish re nts. Gen. Garcia would allow on relaxation in the search, however, and had his mind bent on intercepting Pando when Gen. Shafter arrived with his army off Santiago.

One of the first matters Gen. Garcia brought to Gen. Shafter's attention was the question of preventing Pando from joining Linares in Santiago, Gen. Garcia had not at his command a force strong enough to face Pando's ten thou-sand troops, but he felt confident that the Cubans could hold the Spanish re-enforcements in check until Gen. Shafter could send troops to aid in driving them back from the beleaguered city. Gen. Garcia's scouts, although they ap-parently displayed unceasing vigilance, were unable to get any news of Pando's movements. As day after day passed, the Cuban general became more uneasy, and Gen. Shafter was much perplexed is to Pando's whereabouts,

The information which comes from Manzanillo has set at rest the fears of both the American and Cuban commanders. They believe that Pando's men-ither were unequal to the difficult march from Manzaniilo to Santiago, or else that Gen. Linares, realizing the hopelessnes of his position, sent word that it was useless to send these additional troops to that point.

If Gen. Pando succeeded in forming junction with Gen. Linares it would be of but temporary benefit. Gen. Shafter, having obtained a desirable landing place and established permanent headquarters within commanding distance of Santiago, the fall of the city would be but a question of t ion of time. Additional American forces the Spanish defeat came it would meat the surrender of that many more Span-ish troops. would be rushed to Santiago, and who
